

Creation

One day, Kuma came across a snowy meadow on his Bear. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Kuma was caught in the downpour and died.

Akuma came looking for Kuma. He saw a Bear parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Akuma, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for A Kuma, something that he knew Kuma liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Small Bear came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Kuma and Akuma. The Small Bear let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Small Bear and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, A'n came across a snowy meadow on his tricycle. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and A'n was caught in the downpour and died.

Connster came looking for A'n. He saw a tricycle parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Connster, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for a fish, something that he knew A'n liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a ManPong came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of A'n and Connster. The ManPong let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the ManPong and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, The legendary Hero came across a snowy meadow on his The legendary public transport. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and The legendary Hero was caught in the downpour and died.

The legendary Sidekick came looking for The legendary Hero. He saw a The legendary public transport parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought The legendary Sidekick, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for The legendary hero's treasured object, something that he knew The legendary Hero liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a The legendary UNICOOORRRN came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of The legendary Hero and The legendary Sidekick. The The legendary UNICOOORRRN let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the The legendary UNICOOORRRN and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, ManPong came across a snowy meadow on his Sloth. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and ManPong was caught in the downpour and died.

Vishnap came looking for ManPong. He saw a Sloth parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Vishnap, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Eklavya's hair, something that he knew ManPong liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Snail came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of ManPong and Vishnap. The Snail let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Snail and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Buzz came across a snowy meadow on his bullseye. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Buzz was caught in the downpour and died.

Lightyear came looking for Buzz. He saw a bullseye parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Lightyear, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for a carrot, something that he knew Buzz liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a dog came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Buzz and Lightyear. The dog let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the dog and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Wooman came across a snowy meadow on his Rolly Chair. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Wooman was caught in the downpour and died.

Eiman Oldman came looking for Wooman. He saw a Rolly Chair parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Eiman Oldman, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Ipad, something that he knew Wooman liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Kony Tran came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Wooman and Eiman Oldman. The Kony Tran let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Kony Tran and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Schteiner came across a snowy meadow on his usain Bolt. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Schteiner was caught in the downpour and died.

Barney Stinson came looking for Schteiner. He saw a usain Bolt parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Barney Stinson, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for a potato, something that he knew Schteiner liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a fish came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Schteiner and Barney Stinson. The fish let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the fish and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Schteíner's twin came across a snowy meadow on his elaine's head. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Schteíner's twin was caught in the downpour and died.

Foot came looking for Schteíner's twin. He saw a elaine's head parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought foot, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for chrisítina's toenail, something that he knew Schteíner's twin liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a doobby <3 came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Schteíner's twin and foot. The doobby <3 let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the doobby <3 and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Sheldon came across a snowy meadow on his Flying Saucer. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Sheldon was caught in the downpour and died.

Cat woman came looking for Sheldon. He saw a Flying Saucer parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Cat woman, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Penny, something that he knew Sheldon liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Dragon came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Sheldon and Cat woman. The Dragon let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Dragon and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Twilight Sparkle came across a snowy meadow on his worm-mobile. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Twilight Sparkle was caught in the downpour and died.

Alfred came looking for Twilight Sparkle. He saw a worm-mobile parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Alfred, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for 50 Shades of Grey, something that he knew Twilight Sparkle liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Eklavya Ann Kush - The Mythical Beast came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Twilight Sparkle and Alfred. The Eklavya Ann Kush - The Mythical Beast let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Eklavya Ann Kush - The Mythical Beast and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Super Woo came across a snowy meadow on his Flying Cardbox Box. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Super Woo was caught in the downpour and died.

Fobbin' Wood came looking for Super Woo. He saw a Flying Cardbox Box parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Fobbin' Wood, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Mr Woo's Son, something that he knew Super Woo liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Pok Him Siu came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Super Woo and Fobbin' Wood. The Pok Him Siu let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Pok Him Siu and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, John came across a snowy meadow on his Mario Kart. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and John was caught in the downpour and died.

Ted the Teddy Bear came looking for John. He saw a Mario Kart parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Ted the Teddy Bear, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for A POK, something that he knew John liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a LOLCAT came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of John and Ted the Teddy Bear. The LOLCAT let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the LOLCAT and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Man came across a snowy meadow on his car. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Man was caught in the downpour and died.

Boy came looking for Man. He saw a car parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Boy, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Nintendo DS, something that he knew Man liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Ishraq came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Man and Boy. The Ishraq let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Ishraq and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, batman came across a snowy meadow on his batmobile. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and batman was caught in the downpour and died.

robin came looking for batman. He saw a batmobile parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought robin, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for bats, something that he knew batman liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a bat came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of batman and robin. The bat let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the bat and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Captain Sparklez came across a snowy meadow on his Pig. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Captain Sparklez was caught in the downpour and died.

MOOOOO came looking for Captain Sparklez. He saw a Pig parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought MOOOOO, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Pickaxe, something that he knew Captain Sparklez liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Hamster came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Captain Sparklez and MOOOOO. The Hamster let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Hamster and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Dot came across a snowy meadow on his Raymond. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Dot was caught in the downpour and died.

Sparkle came looking for Dot. He saw a Raymond parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Sparkle, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Catfish, something that he knew Dot liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Ishraq Huda came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Dot and Sparkle. The Ishraq Huda let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Ishraq Huda and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, John Smith came across a snowy meadow on his unicycle with 3 wheels. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and John Smith was caught in the downpour and died.

Rocky..the pet rock came looking for John Smith. He saw a unicycle with 3 wheels parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Rocky..the pet rock, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for 3 bananas, something that he knew John Smith liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a General Aladeen came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of John Smith and Rocky..the pet rock. The General Aladeen let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the General Aladeen and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Mr David Jones came across a snowy meadow on his Batmobile. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Mr David Jones was caught in the downpour and died.

came looking for Mr David Jones. He saw a Batmobile parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for a wild pidgey, something that he knew Mr David Jones liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a A guinea pig came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Mr David Jones and . The A guinea pig let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the A guinea pig and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Nicronjester came across a snowy meadow on his The Bikemobile. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Nicronjester was caught in the downpour and died.

Soul came looking for Nicronjester. He saw a The Bikemobile parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Soul, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Deathscythe, something that he knew Nicronjester liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a Ghost came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Nicronjester and Soul. The Ghost let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the Ghost and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, A chicken came across a snowy meadow on his Yoshi. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and A chicken was caught in the downpour and died.

A dog came looking for A chicken. He saw a Yoshi parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought A dog, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for a computer, something that he knew A chicken liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a A cat came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of A chicken and A dog. The A cat let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the A cat and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, Ricky came across a snowy meadow on his Ishraq's piggyback ride. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and Ricky was caught in the downpour and died.

Ishraq came looking for Ricky. He saw a Ishraq's piggyback ride parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought Ishraq, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for Ricky's hair, something that he knew Ricky liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a a three-legged cat came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of Ricky and Ishraq. The a three-legged cat let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the a three-legged cat and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, came across a snowy meadow on his . An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and was caught in the downpour and died.

came looking for . He saw a parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought , and he dug the snow but found nothing except for , something that he knew liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of and . The let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.

Creation

One day, I wonder... who did this? came across a snowy meadow on his I wonder... who did this?. An avalanche came crashing down a mountain and I wonder... who did this? was caught in the downpour and died.

I wonder... who did this? came looking for I wonder... who did this?. He saw a I wonder... who did this? parked inside a large mound of snow. "Oh my god!", thought I wonder... who did this?, and he dug the snow but found nothing except for I wonder... who did this?, something that he knew I wonder... who did this? liked the most. He cried with savage pain at the loss of his mate, as another avalanche came rolling down the nearby mountain and he died.

After a while, a I wonder... who did this? came wandering along the snow, and found the dead bodies of I wonder... who did this? and I wonder... who did this?. The I wonder... who did this? let out a yelp of surprise, which triggered an avalanche from the nearby mountain which caught the I wonder... who did this? and he died.

As the final layer of snow came off the mountain, what was left was an unseen biological kingdom, once preserved under several compacted and hefty layers of ice and snow. It consisted of numerous mythical and rumoured creatures, such as sea serpents, phoenixes, Cyclopes and unicorns, which had previously only existed in within the imaginative realms of mankind. With a huge rumble of surprise and fascination, these creatures surged down the mountain, and set foot on the planet we now know as earth.