

Well one day you met Kuma. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Akuma. Then Kuma had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Bear fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Kuma then started talking with his beloved friend Small Bear. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Kuma suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Kuma sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Kuma picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Bear let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Kuma got back to his Bear and reached the destination. He got his A Kuma out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his A Kuma and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Kuma suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the A Kuma. Kuma then sped out without the A Kuma so that the fire would not engulf him. When Kuma went to the back he saw that Akuma had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Akuma now. Akuma had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Kuma now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Small Bear came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met A'n. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Connster. Then A'n had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, tricycle fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. A'n then started talking with his beloved friend ManPong. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then A'n suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so A'n sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. A'n picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. tricycle let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once A'n got back to his tricycle and reached the destination. He got his a fish out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his a fish and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then A'n suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the a fish. A'n then sped out without the a fish so that the fire would not engulf him. When A'n went to the back he saw that Connster had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Connster now. Connster had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. A'n now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the ManPong came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met The legendary Hero. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend The legendary Sidekick. Then The legendary Hero had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, The legendary public transport fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. The legendary Hero then started talking with his beloved friend The legendary UNICOOOORRRN. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then The legendary Hero suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so The legendary Hero sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. The legendary Hero picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. The legendary public transport let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once The legendary Hero got back to his The legendary public transport and reached the destination. He got his The legendary hero's treasured object out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his The legendary hero's treasured object and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then The legendary Hero suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the The legendary hero's treasured object. The legendary Hero then sped out without the The legendary hero's treasured object so that the fire would not engulf him. When The legendary Hero went to the back he saw that The legendary Sidekick had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved The legendary Sidekick now. The legendary Sidekick had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. The legendary Hero now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the The legendary UNICOOOORRRN came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met ManPong. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Vishnap. Then ManPong had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Sloth fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. ManPong then started talking with his beloved friend Snail. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then ManPong suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so ManPong sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. ManPong picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Sloth let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once ManPong got back to his Sloth and reached the destination. He got his Eklavya's hair out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Eklavya's hair and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then ManPong suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Eklavya's hair. ManPong then sped out without the Eklavya's hair so that the fire would not engulf him. When ManPong went to the back he saw that Vishnap had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Vishnap now. Vishnap had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. ManPong now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Snail came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met buzz. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend lightyear. Then buzz had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, bullseye fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. buzz then started talking with his beloved friend dog. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then buzz suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so buzz sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. buzz picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. bullseye let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once buzz got back to his bullseye and reached the destination. He got his a carrot out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his a carrot and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then buzz suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the a carrot. buzz then sped out without the a carrot so that the fire would not engulf him. When buzz went to the back he saw that lightyear had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved lightyear now. lightyear had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. buzz now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the dog came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Wooman. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Eiman Oldman. Then Wooman had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Rolly Chair fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Wooman then started talking with his beloved friend Kony Tran. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Wooman suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Wooman sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Wooman picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Rolly Chair let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Wooman got back to his Rolly Chair and reached the destination. He got his Ipad out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Ipad and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Wooman suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Ipad. Wooman then sped out without the Ipad so that the fire would not engulf him. When Wooman went to the back he saw that Eiman Oldman had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Eiman Oldman now. Eiman Oldman had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Wooman now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Kony Tran came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Schteiner. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Barney Stinson. Then Schteiner had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Usain Bolt fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Schteiner then started talking with his beloved friend fish. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Schteiner suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Schteiner sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Schteiner picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Usain Bolt let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Schteiner got back to his Usain Bolt and reached the destination. He got his a potato out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his a potato and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Schteiner suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the a potato. Schteiner then sped out without the a potato so that the fire would not engulf him. When Schteiner went to the back he saw that Barney Stinson had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Barney Stinson now. Barney Stinson had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Schteiner now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the fish came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Schteiner's twin. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend foot. Then Schteiner's twin had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, elaine's head fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Schteiner's twin then started talking with his beloved friend dooby <3. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Schteiner's twin suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Schteiner's twin sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Schteiner's twin picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. elaine's head let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Schteiner's twin got back to his elaine's head and reached the destination. He got his chrisitina's toenail out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his chrisitina's toenail and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Schteiner's twin suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the chrisitina's toenail. Schteiner's twin then sped out without the chrisitina's toenail so that the fire would not engulf him. When Schteiner's twin went to the back he saw that foot had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved foot now. foot had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Schteiner's twin now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the dooby <3 came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Sheldon. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Cat woman. Then Sheldon had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Flying Saucer fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Sheldon then started talking with his beloved friend Dragon. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Sheldon suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Sheldon sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Sheldon picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Flying Saucer let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Sheldon got back to his Flying Saucer and reached the destination. He got his Penny out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Penny and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Sheldon suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Penny. Sheldon then sped out without the Penny so that the fire would not engulf him. When Sheldon went to the back he saw that Cat woman had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Cat woman now. Cat woman had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Sheldon now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Dragon came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Twilight Sparkle. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Alfred. Then Twilight Sparkle had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, worm-mobile fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Twilight Sparkle then started talking with his beloved friend Eklavya Ann Kush - The Mythical Beast. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Twilight Sparkle suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Twilight Sparkle sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Twilight Sparkle picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. worm-mobile let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Twilight Sparkle got back to his worm-mobile and reached the destination. He got his 50 Shades of Grey out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his 50 Shades of Grey and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Twilight Sparkle suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the 50 Shades of Grey. Twilight Sparkle then sped out without the 50 Shades of Grey so that the fire would not engulf him. When Twilight Sparkle went to the back he saw that Alfred had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Alfred now. Alfred had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Twilight Sparkle now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Eklavya Ann Kush - The Mythical Beast came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Super Woo. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Fobbin' Wood. Then Super Woo had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Flying Cardbox Box fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Super Woo then started talking with his beloved friend Pok Him Siu. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Super Woo suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Super Woo sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Super Woo picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Flying Cardbox Box let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Super Woo got back to his Flying Cardbox Box and reached the destination. He got his Mr Woo's Son out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Mr Woo's Son and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Super Woo suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Mr Woo's Son. Super Woo then sped out without the Mr Woo's Son so that the fire would not engulf him. When Super Woo went to the back he saw that Fobbin' Wood had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Fobbin' Wood now. Fobbin' Wood had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Super Woo now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Pok Him Siu came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met John. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Ted the Teddy Bear. Then John had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Mario Kart fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. John then started talking with his beloved friend LOLCAT. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then John suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so John sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. John picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Mario Kart let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once John got back to his Mario Kart and reached the destination. He got his A POK out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his A POK and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then John suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the A POK. John then sped out without the A POK so that the fire would not engulf him. When John went to the back he saw that Ted the Teddy Bear had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Ted the Teddy Bear now. Ted the Teddy Bear had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. John now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the LOLCAT came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Man. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Boy. Then Man had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, car fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Man then started talking with his beloved friend Ishraq. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Man suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Man sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Man picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. car let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Man got back to his car and reached the destination. He got his Nintendo DS out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Nintendo DS and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Man suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Nintendo DS. Man then sped out without the Nintendo DS so that the fire would not engulf him. When Man went to the back he saw that Boy had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Boy now. Boy had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Man now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Ishraq came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met batman. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend robin. Then batman had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, batmobile fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. batman then started talking with his beloved friend bat. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then batman suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so batman sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. batman picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. batmobile let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once batman got back to his batmobile and reached the destination. He got his bats out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his bats and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then batman suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the bats. batman then sped out without the bats so that the fire would not engulf him. When batman went to the back he saw that robin had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved robin now. robin had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. batman now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the bat came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Captain Sparklez. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend MOOOOO. Then Captain Sparklez had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Pig fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Captain Sparklez then started talking with his beloved friend Hamster. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Captain Sparklez suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Captain Sparklez sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Captain Sparklez picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Pig let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Captain Sparklez got back to his Pig and reached the destination. He got his Pickaxe out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Pickaxe and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Captain Sparklez suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Pickaxe. Captain Sparklez then sped out without the Pickaxe so that the fire would not engulf him. When Captain Sparklez went to the back he saw that MOOOOO had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved MOOOOO now. MOOOOO had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Captain Sparklez now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Hamster came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Dot. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Sparkle. Then Dot had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Raymond fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Dot then started talking with his beloved friend Ishraq Huda. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Dot suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Dot sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Dot picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Raymond let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Dot got back to his Raymond and reached the destination. He got his Catfish out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Catfish and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Dot suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Catfish. Dot then sped out without the Catfish so that the fire would not engulf him. When Dot went to the back he saw that Sparkle had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Sparkle now. Sparkle had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Dot now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Ishraq Huda came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met John Smith. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Rocky..the pet rock. Then John Smith had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Unicycle with 3 wheels fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. John Smith then started talking with his beloved friend General Aladeen. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then John Smith suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so John Smith sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. John Smith picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Unicycle with 3 wheels let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once John Smith got back to his Unicycle with 3 wheels and reached the destination. He got his 3 bananas out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his 3 bananas and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then John Smith suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the 3 bananas. John Smith then sped out without the 3 bananas so that the fire would not engulf him. When John Smith went to the back he saw that Rocky..the pet rock had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Rocky..the pet rock now. Rocky..the pet rock had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. John Smith now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the General Aladeen came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Batmobile fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend A guinea pig. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Batmobile let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his Batmobile and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the A guinea pig came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Nicronjester. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Soul. Then Nicronjester had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, The Bikemobile fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Nicronjester then started talking with his beloved friend Ghost. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Nicronjester suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Nicronjester sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Nicronjester picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. The Bikemobile let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Nicronjester got back to his The Bikemobile and reached the destination. He got his Deathscythe out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Deathscythe and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Nicronjester suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Deathscythe. Nicronjester then sped out without the Deathscythe so that the fire would not engulf him. When Nicronjester went to the back he saw that Soul had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Soul now. Soul had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Nicronjester now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the Ghost came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met A chicken. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend A dog. Then A chicken had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Yoshi fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. A chicken then started talking with his beloved friend A cat. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then A chicken suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so A chicken sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. A chicken picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Yoshi let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once A chicken got back to his Yoshi and reached the destination. He got his a computer out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his a computer and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then A chicken suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the a computer. A chicken then sped out without the a computer so that the fire would not engulf him. When A chicken went to the back he saw that A dog had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved A dog now. A dog had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. A chicken now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the A cat came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met Ricky. He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend Ishraq. Then Ricky had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, Ishraq fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. Ricky then started talking with his beloved friend a three-legged cat. They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then Ricky suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so Ricky sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. Ricky picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. Ishraq let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once Ricky got back to his Ishraq and reached the destination. He got his Ricky's hair out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his Ricky's hair and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then Ricky suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the Ricky's hair. Ricky then sped out without the Ricky's hair so that the fire would not engulf him. When Ricky went to the back he saw that Ishraq had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved Ishraq now. Ishraq had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. Ricky now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the a three-legged cat came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.

Well one day you met . He was walking down the street with a different point of view. He said hey, hey to his friend . Then had to go rescue people from a burning fire. The vehicle, fell out of the sky and he rocketed to the Empire State Building. On the way he stopped at a garden and he suddenly felt happy. The flowers were nice and colourful. then started talking with his beloved friend . They ate Chinese noodles together and had a fun time. But then suddenly realised that people were dying in the burning building so sped off. As he was going a massive unicorn fell from the sky and hit his car. picked up the unicorn and flew up into the air. let it go in heaven where it flew off happily ever after. Then once got back to his and reached the destination. He got his out and flung it at the building ready to jump into the fire. He used his and looked left and right but there was no one to rescue. Then suddenly burnt his hand and dropped the . then sped out without the so that the fire would not engulf him. When went to the back he saw that had already rescued everyone and had saved the day. The public loved now. had stolen the title of hero of Manhattan. now felt sad and didn't have any friends. Then his best friend the came along and he felt supper happy again. They both lived happily ever after.